

Plymouth to focus on Spanish tungsten and tin project

ASX via e-lodgement:
11 December 2013

Plymouth Minerals Limited (ASX: PLH) ("Plymouth", "the Company") wishes to advise it has relinquished its greenfields REE prospect in Greenland (2011/04) and is now solely focussing on the Morille brownfields tungsten-tin Project (Morille) in Spain.

Plymouth conducted field work in Greenland in 2011. Results did not support continued work in a depressed REE environment, and as such Plymouth continued to search for an additional value accretive project and to offer the Greenland project for Joint Venture. No Joint venture or sale opportunities were available and the tenement has been relinquished.

Plymouth successfully acquired the Morille tungsten-tin project in October 2013. Plymouth has recently commenced fieldwork at the Morille project and plans to continue into 2014 with drilling activity proposed for Q1 2014.
