29 July 2013

Events during the quarter;

- Extension of option period over Zambian Copper Assets
- Option rights issue to shareholders

During the quarter, Plymouth announced the extension of the free option to earn an 80% interest in several tenements which it deems highly prospective for copper, cobalt and gold in Zambia and a 10% interest in a company undertaking small scale copper mining in Zambia. This option extension, granted by the vendors at no additional cost extends to 25th September 2013

This transaction is conditional and subsequent to successful due diligence by Plymouth. To date Plymouth has not been able to complete due diligence and reiterates the conditional nature of the agreement and the ability of local partners to procure documentation to support their claims.

A 1:3 loyalty option exercisable at $0.25 was made available to shareholders at $0.005 per option and closed on the 3rd June. A total of 10,716,667 options are to be issued and the shortfall allocation will be made prior to 27 August 2013 at the discretion of the Board.

The Company maintained a strong cash balance of $2,650,000 with further net receivables of $100,000 and a very low administrative cash burn.

Greenland

In light of the prevailing low prices for Rare Earth Minerals and the depressed exploration sector for this commodity, no work was undertaken, or is planned to be undertaken in Greenland.

Project Generation

The Company has continued to increase focus on obtaining other projects and has now begun focussing on copper-gold projects in the Zambia, Mozambique and Tanzania region of East Africa. Other projects which compliment Plymouth in these commodities outside this region are also a focus for the company.
