Plymouth Minerals Limited

not issue certificates to investors. Rather, holding statements (similar to bank statements) will be dispatched to investors as soon as practicable after allotment. Because the sub-registers are electronic, ownership of securities can be transferred without having to rely upon paper documentation.

1.10 Risks

As with any share investment, there are risks associated with investing in the Company. The principal risks that could affect the financial and market performance of the Company and its business model are detailed in Section 2 of this Prospectus. The New Options on offer under this Prospectus should be considered speculative. Accordingly, before deciding to invest in the Company, investors should read this Prospectus in its entirety and should consider all factors in light of their individual circumstances and seek appropriate professional advice.

Key risk factors affecting an investment in the Company include:

- There can be no assurance that exploration of the Projects or other exploration properties that may be acquired by the Company in the future will result in the discovery of an economic resource. Even if an economic resource is discovered, there is no guarantee that the resource will be able to be commercially exploited by the Company.
- Interests in the tenements in which the Company has acquired or is acquiring an interest are subject to the tenement holder complying with the terms and conditions of the tenements and other relevant legislation.
- Operational and resource estimate risks in respect of the Projects in which the Company has or will acquire an interest such as a failure to locate or identify economic mineral deposits and operational and technical challenges in the mining and processing of ore.
- Investment risks including economic risks such as changes in commodity prices, interest rates and exchange rates.
- Additional capital requirements of the Company. The Company may be unable to obtain additional capital on satisfactory terms or at all.
- Environmental and regulatory risks and reliance on key management personnel.

For further information in relation to the risk factors of the Company please refer to Section 2 of this Prospectus.

Plymouth Minerals Limited

No action has been taken to register this Prospectus or otherwise to permit a public offering of New Shares in any jurisdiction outside Australia or New Zealand.

It is not practicable for the Company to comply with the securities laws of overseas jurisdictions having regard to the number of overseas Shareholders, the number and value of New Options these Shareholders would be offered and the cost of complying with regulatory requirements in each relevant jurisdiction. It is the responsibility of all persons to satisfy themselves of the particular taxation treatment that applies to them by consulting their own professional tax advisers. Plymouth Minerals Limited

SECTION 2 RISK FACTORS

2.1 Introduction

The New Options offered under this Prospectus should be considered speculative because of the nature of the Company's business.

Whilst the Directors recommend that Shareholders take up their Entitlement, there are however numerous risk factors involved. Some of these risks can be mitigated by the use of safeguards and appropriate systems and controls, but some are outside the control of the Company and cannot be mitigated. Accordingly, an investment in the Company carries no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, return of capital or price at which the New Options will trade.

The following is a summary of the more material matters to be considered and should be read in conjunction with specific matters referred to in the Company's announcements and reports. However, the summary is not exhaustive and potential investors should examine the contents of this Prospectus in its entirety and consult their professional advisors before deciding whether to apply for the New Options.

2.2 Specific Risks

A number of specific risk factors that may impact the future performance of the Company are described below. Shareholders should note that this list is not exhaustive.

Settlement of Zambian Option Agreements - As announced to ASX on 2 April 2013, the Company has entered into two option agreements over interests in companies holding ultimate interests in tenements in Zambia. As at the date of this Prospectus, the Company has yet to exercise those options while the Company continues its due diligence investigations. On 23 April 2013, the Company announced an update on the status of these agreements, including confirmation that the Company had managed to re-negotiate certain terms of those option agreements.

The risk remains that the Company may ultimately choose not to exercise one or either of the two options agreements entered into. This would most likely occur where the Company was unsatisfied with its due diligence investigations. Until such time as these option agreements are exercised and interests in these entities are ultimately transferred to the Company (or its nominee), there remains a risk relating to the settlement of those agreements. Where the Company does complete the acquisitions under one or both of those option agreements, the Company will also become exposed to risks associated with operating in a foreign jurisdiction in Africa. These risks may include, without limitation, sovereign risks, tenement risks, due diligence risks, operating under foreign laws, economic, social or political instability or change, hyperinflation, currency non-convertibility or instability and changes of law affecting foreign ownership, government participation, taxation, rates of exchange control, exploration licensing, export duties, repatriation of income or return of capital, environmental protection and government regulations. Consideration of these risks is a part of the due diligence investigations being undertaken by the Directors.

Contract Risk – Some of the Company's assets are interests in the Projects held pursuant to option agreements. The Company is reliant on the vendors complying with the terms and conditions of the option agreements and the conditions attaching to the tenements (as applicable). Should the vendors fail to comply with the terms of the option agreements, the Company's interest in the Projects may be adversely affected.

Status of Tenements - The Company cannot guarantee that its granted exploration licences will be renewed beyond their current expiry date and there is a material risk that, in the event the Company is unable to renew these granted tenements beyond their current expiry date, the Company's proposed interest in the Project will be relinquished.

Plymouth Minerals Limited

Exploration Risk - Potential investors should understand that mineral exploration and development is a high-risk undertaking. There can be no assurance that exploration of acquired Projects or any other exploration properties that may be acquired in the future will result in the discovery of an economic ore deposit. Even if an apparently viable deposit is identified, there is no guarantee that it can be economically exploited.

The future exploration activities of the Company may be affected by a range of factors including geological conditions, limitations on activities due to seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated operational and technical difficulties, industrial and environmental accidents, native title process, changing government regulations and many other factors beyond the control of the Company.

The success of the Company will also depend upon the Company having access to sufficient development capital, being able to maintain title to the Projects and obtaining all required approvals for its activities. In the event that exploration programs are unsuccessful this could lead to a diminution in the value of the Projects, a reduction in the cash reserves of the Company and possible relinquishment of part or all of the Projects.

Operating Risks - The operations of the Company may be affected by various factors, including failure to locate or identify mineral deposits; failure to achieve predicted grades in exploration and mining; operational and technical difficulties encountered in mining; difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment; mechanical failure or plant breakdown; unanticipated metallurgical problems which may affect extraction costs; adverse weather conditions; industrial and environmental accidents; industrial disputes; and unexpected shortages or increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant and equipment.

No assurances can be given that the Company will achieve commercial viability through the successful exploration and/or mining of its tenement interests. Unless and until the Company is able to realise value from its Projects, it is likely to incur ongoing operating losses.

Resource Estimates - The Projects do not have any identified resources. Even if a resource is identified, resource estimates are expressions of judgment based on knowledge, experience and industry practice. Estimates which were valid when originally calculated may alter significantly when new information or techniques become available. In addition, by their very nature, resource estimates are imprecise and depend to some extent on interpretations, which may prove to be inaccurate. As further information becomes available through additional fieldwork and analysis, the estimates are likely to change. This may result in alterations to development and mining plans which may, in turn, adversely affect the Company's operations.

Exploration Cost Estimate - The exploration costs of the Company are based on certain estimates and assumptions with respect to the method and timing of exploration. By their nature, these estimates and assumptions are subject to significant uncertainties and, accordingly, the actual costs may materially differ from these estimates and assumptions. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the cost estimates and the underlying assumptions will be realised in practice, which may materially and adversely affect the Company's viability.

Tenure Risks – Specific to the Licence - The Bureau of Minerals and Petroleum granted the Company's Licence (2011/04) in January 2011. This licence has a 5 year term. If the exploration commitment is not met for the current year, the Company shall pay 50% of the non-fulfilled part of the exploration commitment or provide a bank guarantee that the non-fulfilled part of the exploration commitment will be incurred in the next year of the licence, and similarly for subsequent years. If the Company fails to comply with these requirements, the Licence will be revoked with immediate effect.

Licences or parts thereof in Greenland can neither directly, nor indirectly be transferred to other parties unless the transfer is approved by the Self Government of Greenland in accordance with Section 88 subsection 1 of the Mineral Resources Act.

Environmental Risks - The Company's Timmiarmiut REE Project is subject to Greenland laws and regulations regarding environmental matters and the discharge of hazardous wastes and materials. As with all mining projects, this Project may have a variety of environmental impacts should development proceed.

Plymouth Minerals Limited

The Company intends to conduct its activities in an environmentally responsible manner and in accordance with applicable laws and industry standards. Areas disturbed by the Company's activities will be rehabilitated as required by the applicable laws and regulations.

Insurance Risks - Insurance coverage of all risks associated with minerals exploration, development and production is not always available and, where available, the cost can be high. The Company will have insurance in place considered appropriate for the Company's needs. The Company will not be insured against all possible losses, either because of the unavailability of cover or because the Directors believe the premiums are excessive relative to the benefits that would accrue. The Directors believe that the insurance they have in place is appropriate. The Directors will continue to review the insurance cover in place to ensure that it is adequate.

2.3 General Risks

The future prospects of the Company's business may be affected by circumstances and external factors beyond the Company's control. Financial performance of the Company may be affected by a number of business risks that apply to companies generally and may include economic, financial, market or regulatory conditions.

Economic Risks - General economic conditions, introduction of tax reform, new legislation, movements in interest and inflation rates, the prevailing global commodity prices and currency exchange rates may have an adverse effect on the Company's exploration, development and production activities, as well as on its ability to fund those activities.

Market Conditions - Share market conditions may affect the value of the Company's quoted securities regardless of the Company's operating performance. Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as:

- (a) general economic outlook;
- (b) interest rates and inflation rates;
- (c) currency fluctuations;
- (d) changes in investor sentiment;
- (e) the demand for, and supply of, capital; and
- (f) terrorism or other hostilities.

The market price of the Company's securities can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general and resource exploration stocks in particular. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return on an investment in the Company.

Commodity Price Volatility and Exchange Rate Risks - If the Company achieves success leading to mineral production, the revenue it will derive through the sale exposes the potential income of the Company to commodity price and exchange rate risks. Commodity prices fluctuate and are affected by many factors beyond the control of the Company. Such factors include supply and demand fluctuations for precious and base metals, technological advancements, forward selling activities and other macro-economic factors. Further, international prices of various commodities are denominated in United States dollars, whereas the income and expenditure of the Company are and will be taken into account in Australian currency, exposing the Company to the fluctuations and volatility of the rate of exchange between the United States dollar and the Australian dollar as determined in international markets.

Additional Requirements for Capital - The Company's capital requirements depend on numerous factors. Depending on the Company's ability to generate income from its operations, the Company may require further financing in addition to amounts raised under this Prospectus. Any additional equity financing will dilute shareholdings, and debt financing, if available, may involve restrictions on financing and operating activities. There can be no assurance that additional finance will be available when needed or, if available, the terms of the financing might not be favourable to the Company and might involve substantial dilution to Shareholders. If the Company is unable to obtain additional financing as needed, it may be required to reduce the scope of its operations and scale back its exploration programs as the case may be.

Government and Legal Risk - Changes in government, monetary policies, taxation and other laws can have a significant impact on the Company's assets, operations and ultimately the financial performance of the Company and its securities.

Competition Risk - The industry in which the Company will be involved is subject to domestic and global competition. Although the Company will undertake all reasonable due diligence in its business decisions and operations, the Company will have no influence or control over the activities or actions of its competitors, which activities or actions may, positively or negatively, affect the operating and financial performance of the Company's Projects and business.

Reliance on Key Management - The responsibility of overseeing the day-to-day operations and the strategic management of the Company depends substantially on its senior management and its key personnel. There can be no assurance given that there will be no detrimental impact on the Company if one or more of these employees or consultants cease their involvement with the Company.

Risk of international operations generally - International sales and operations are subject to a number of risks, including:

- (a) potential difficulties in enforcing agreements (including joint venture agreements) and collecting receivables through foreign local systems;
- (b) potential difficulties in protecting intellectual property;
- (c) increases in costs for transportation and shipping; and
- (d) restrictive governmental actions, such as imposition of trade quotas, tariffs and other taxes.

Any of these factors could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, results of operations and financial condition.

Sovereign Risk - The Company's current key Project is located in Greenland. Greenland is an autonomous country within the Kingdom of Denmark.

The political conditions in Greenland are generally stable, however, possible sovereign risks associated with operating in Greenland include, without limitation, changes in the terms of mining legislation, changes to royalty arrangements, changes to taxation rates and concessions and changes in the ability to enforce legal rights. Any of these factors may, in the future, adversely affect the financial performance of the Company and the market price of its shares.

No assurance can be given regarding future stability in Greenland or any other country in which the Company may, in the future, have an interest.

2.4 Speculative Nature of Investment

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the New Options offered under this Prospectus. Therefore, the New Options offered pursuant to this Prospectus carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of the New Options.

Shares offered pursuant to the Offer	Nil
Shares on issue at Record Date¹	32,150,000

Unlisted Options	Full Subscription (Number)

Total Unlisted Options on issue after completion of the Offer²	6,000,000

- At the date of this Prospectus, all Unlisted Options on issue are vested and exercisable but have an exercise price greater than the 3 May 2013 closing Share price of $0.10. This Prospectus has assumed that no Unlisted Options are exercised between the date of this Prospectus and Record Date. 8. In the event that a pro rata issue (except a bonus issue) of securities is made to the holders of the underlying securities in the Company after the date of issue of the New Options, the exercise price of the New Options may be reduced in accordance with the formula set out in Listing Rule 6.22.
